

TokenPay

Introducing the world's most secure coin

TokenPay is a blockchain project that incorporates Bitcoin cryptographic technology with advanced security and privacy features. Additionally, TokenPay is building out a platform that combines banking and a closed-end private exchange. This enables wider adoption of the coin via consumer and merchant services TokenPay is launching a hard capped TPAY digital token sale to raise funds for the TokenPay project and general corporate purposes. This will allow the team the ability to add more features to the platform. The maximum raise will be 5000 Bitcoin during the token sale and the presale combined. The number of tokens issued per Bitcoin will depend on the Bitcoin raised as per the bonus structure table detailed in this whitepaper. Prospective TPAY buyers can trade any amount of Bitcoin including fractional amounts such as 0.010 Bitcoin. There will be a discount offered to early TPAY buyers that will decay with the number of TPAY claimed during the token sale. There will also be bonuses offered for referring buyers to the TPAY digital token sale.

project contingent on acquisition of a bank in Vanuatu.
unsold tokens to be held in reserve.
exchange creation contingent on hardcap of approx $55mil usd being raised.
I do not believe this project will reach $55mil.
As an investment I believe this to be high risk as there are too many variables associated with the business plan and a large number of competitors already in the space.
