

TRON

Decentralize the web

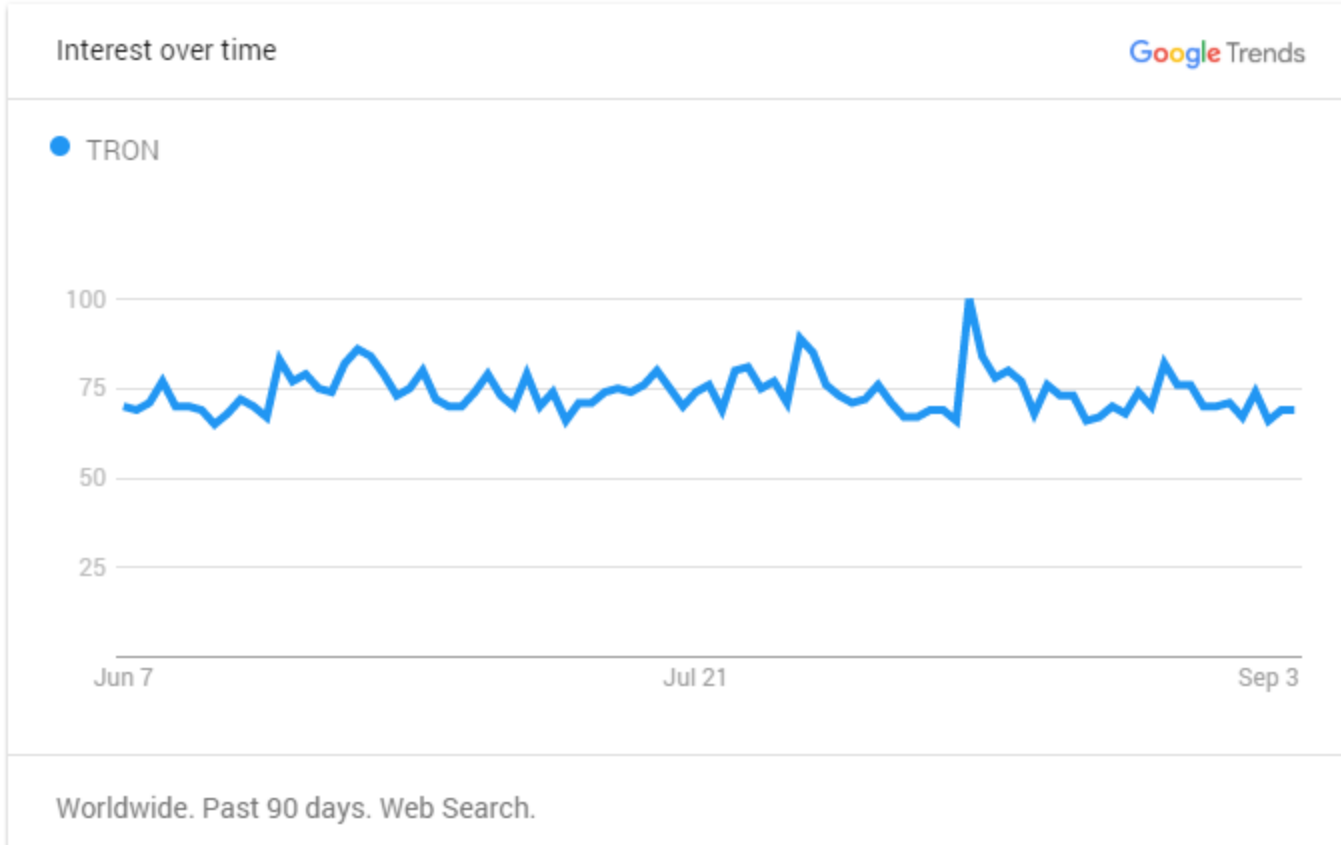

Description

Tron (TRX) raised USD $70M in September 2017 through a public ICO. Other prominent investors to back the project include Jihan Wu, CEO of BITMAIN, and Chaoyong Wang, founder of the ChinaEquity Group.

The ICO was uncapped and many felt this was a negative as it often led to overbuying and reduced profits when the tokens eventually make it to an exchange, but they were not the only project with no hard cap. Despite being backed by a strong team, the roadmap seemed overly ambitious with timelines stretching out to 2025. Investors looking for near to medium term returns were put off by this.

Tron's mainnet launched only a few months ago and since then the number of transactions on the network have surged. At it's peak, it reached over half of the Ethereum daily high despite having only 300k users vs an estimated 42 million on Ethereum.
