OneRoot

Co-create a network of value and data

Concept and applications based on the blockchain technology are disrupting and transforming the traditional economy and will eventually form a new comprehensive and efficient system. ONEROOT aims to make use of the immutability, transparency and traceability of blockchain while embracing values of decentralization and shared economy to build a network of value that better fits with the characteristics of distributed network and tokenization of assets. Upholding the ideals of sharing and co-operation, our team provides infrastructures for digital assets and co-builds an ecosystem in conformity with characteristics of decentralization, fastening this migration of value.
